

Michelle Rogers, BA, MCHSM

A long time resident of the Roxbury community, Michelle Rogers is currently a Clinical Case Manager Supervisor for Bay Cove Human Services. She is very committed to playing a role that assists her community in receiving access to avenues that will foster successful living. She has had the opportunity to promote education through technological access within the Roxbury, Dorchester and Mattapan Communities as an AmeriCorp Vista and technology training consultant with the Egleston Square and Roxbury Boston YMCA.

In addition to this she has also worked as a teaching consultant for the MIT/Timothy Smith Network Astronomy Program held at the Roxbury Community College Upward Bound Program. Ms. Rogers was also an Intern with the Harvard School of Public Health under the leadership of Dr. Deborah Prothrow-Stith, Dr. Brian Gibbs, Dr. Genita Johnson and Mr. Roland Smart on Aim 4 of the Horizon Grant.

She feels it is vital that those who have had the opportunity to work in the healthcare field, participate in research studies, and play an active role in promoting healthcare research work to eliminate healthcare disparities.
